ABSTRACT

Intended for use by teachers, actors, linguists, sociologists, and others interested in dialect study, this catalog lists the holdings of the Dialect Tape Center at the University of South Alabama (Mobile), an organization that was founded to provide ready access to tape recordings of representative American English as it is currently spoken throughout the country. In addition, the catalogue provides a limited listing of tapes of non-American speaking English in 23 foreign countries. The tapes listed were recorded from individuals selected as typical of the local population of speakers, and each tape generally consists of two parts: an impromptu monologue and a 44-sentence sequence highlighting each American phoneme. The catalog is divided alphabetically according to state and then to city, county, or region. Each of the more than 300 entries also provides information concerning the age and sex of the speaker and the date the recording was made. An ordering code number is provided for each tape. (FL)

History of the Center

The U. S. A. DIALECT TAPE CENTER was originated to provide ready access to cassette tapes of representative American English as spoken during the twentieth century. An additional collection of non-Americans speaking English is available.

Dr. Joseph C. Mele, Professor of Communication Arts, founded the center in 1975 when he was unable to do comparative phonetic studies for a lack of available recordings of conversational American English. With a grant from the University of South Alabama and the assistance of university and college professors throughout the United States, the DIALECT TAPE CENTER now offers its service of tapes to scholars, artists, and researchers who may find them useful.

All tapes are recorded from individuals selected as representative of the local population of speakers. Each tape generally consists of two parts: an impromptu monologue (5 to 18 minutes) followed by a forty-four sentence sequence highlighting each American phoneme.

The collection represents a strong attempt to build a dialect tape depository of spoken English east of the Mississippi River with a limited availability of samples taken west of the Mississippi.

How to Order Copies

The catalog is divided alphabetically into states. First, select the city or county of interest. Second, check the recorded year of birth against the year of recording to ascertain the age of the speaker (if that is significant to your needs). Finally, specify your request for a copy of the desired tape by the code designation; e.g., MDCF75(1943), which represents a tape from Maryland, spoken by a Caucasian female, recorded in 1975, who was born in 1943. Copies will be sent to you on cassette tapes. Costs of copying will be quoted upon request. Address inquiries to:

NOTE: Occasionally a tape may be of poor quality because of uncontrolled field conditions. You will be notified if your order contains such a tape.
